Barium Messenger

VOL. 36 BARIUM SPRINGS, N. C., JANUARY 1959 No. 1

I REMEMBER

"It has been a long time since I visited Barium Springs, and a much longer time than that since I lived here," said the woman to the superintendent of the Home. "Although nearly a half century has passed since my leaving this place and my returning today, I still remember my days at Barium Springs.

"I remember that there were not very many of us here then, and the campus was not nearly as large as it is now, and there were no paved walks or roads. There was no church building on the campus. Times were hard and everybody had to do his part.

"I remember getting up at four o'clock on the cold winter mornings and going from my building over to the kitchen to help with the baking. We had no bakery truck to deliver bread in those days, and it was my job to help make out the rolls. I still remember how cold my fingers got in working with that dough. Morning after morning, we would trudge through the darkness of the early morn to spend hours in getting ready for the rest of the day.

"I remember, too, that we did not have the food which is now available. There was no surplus sent in from the government, there was no orchard to deliver apples, there was no cold storage for beef. The food was simple and plain and limited.

"I, also, remember that there was not much quarreling and fussing about the lack of things, but there was the feeling of necessity on our part to help do for ourselves in order that we might have and share. The spirit of comradeship and friendship that existed among the boys and girls and the family unit in that small group made a deep impression on my life.

"I remember how beautiful I thought the trees were. I used to just walk out under the big trees and stand and look at them, and when it snowed at Barium Springs I went into the highest ecstasy. Why, I even forgot to go to school one day. I started out from the cottage, across the campus, and under the trees with the snow falling and I got into such a rapture that I walked out into the woods and just walked around the whole morning, looking at the beauty of the trees and the falling snow. It was hard for my teacher to believe that I could be telling the truth when I told her where I had been and what I had been doing. But all my life, I have remembered the beauty of that morning and the glory of that day as I walked around in this lovely place and thought about God's world.

"Yes, I remember the days of work and more work than play, but some play, and I remember the people who were here at that time and their faith in God and their teaching us to trust Him."

After quite a period of listening to the lovely reminiscing of this former Barium student, the superintendent said to her: "But what after Barium, what have you been doing?" "After I left Barium Springs," she said, "I became a nurse, and through long years I have had a very pleasant life in ministering to people. Up and down across the eastern side of the United States, I have been extending my hand in the professional services of a nurse, ministering to the bodies of those who were sick, and I hope, through my spirit, ministering to the spirit of those who were downcast."

"It sounds like a wonderful life to me, and this is a thrilling experience, but you said that you had some business to which you wanted to attend. What is that?" said the superintendent.

She smiled and said: "Because I remember my days here and what they have done for me, I want to see that someone else who comes here has the opportunity to get some of the things which came to me. I don't have much, but what I do have I want to make provision for it to come to Barium Springs. I want to get the official title and I want to send, when my days on earth are done, something here that will show that I have remembered."

The superintendent of the Home at Barium Springs went out from that room with a warmth of heart that is seldom felt, for there he had listened to the voice of one whose life had been a blessing from childhood and continues to be a blessing in her service now and her planning will be a blessing in the days to come. Those fingers which through those early years at Barium Springs had almost frozen in the handling of cold dough had been guided by a warm heart to the ministry of the relief of suffering and pain, the gathering together of some of this world's goods, and through careful planning and saving, was now being made ready to be invested again in some other child who may stand in need. Fifty years of service had further endeared to her heart the experiences of Barium Springs and now had brought her back by this place to be sure that her business affairs were in order to do the thing which she wanted done, because she remembered.

Happy Holiday Season Closes With The Return To School

The Christmas Season was good at Barium Springs. Although the day on the calendar is past, the spirit still abides. In the regular procedure, the Christmas week was begun with Family Night and the lighting of the tree in the dining-room. In candlelight and while the carols were being sung, each member of the family made his way to the tree, placed his gift in the big red stocking and then put some decoration on the tree. By the time all had passed by the tree was adorned and the stockings bulged with more than a hundred dollars to be given in the name of the family for Christmas. Christmas shopping tours were made to Statesville and to Charlotte and truck-loads of packages came in through the mail. Cars loaded with presents from Santa Claus made their way to the storage room where the packages waited until Christmas Eve when they were placed in the cottages for Christmas Morning. Christmas Day was a beautiful day. At 6:30 in the morning the families left their cottages and moved out under the stars, making their way to the church for a service of worship conducted by the Senior High Fellowship. This walk is one to be remembered. The full moon was setting in the western sky and could be seen through the bare branches of the big oaks on the campus. After the Service the morning sun was rising in the eastern sky and with all her glory she was beginning to light the earth and the frost on the grass sparkled like jewels. In the frosty cold, the steps were fast and hearts were light and voices were joyful. The Christmas breakfast was ready in the dining-room, and after that all went to the cottages where Christmas trees were decorated and surrounded with packages. After the gifts were received from the trees, the time was spent in visiting one another in the various cottages and seeing what gifts had been brought to others.

At high noon in the big dining-room the whole family came together for a turkey dinner. Home - made cakes brought from Hickory and Laurinburg and special ice cream from a friend in Statesville and beautifully decorated for the occasion made a delightful close to this good meal.

The afternoon of Christmas Day was a time for visits of friends and relatives and a time for displaying all the new gifts and toys and things which had come. For three hours down in the big gymnasium the boys and girls got together for recreation and play and conversation about Christmas. It is indeed a delightful and wonderful season.

Friends of Barium Springs numbering in the thousands had been again this year the wonderful folk that they have always been and so the home was bountifully supplied. There were those who sent the spending money for shopping and the money for Scout uniforms, there were watches and dolls, baby carriages and pogo sticks with speedometers, small radios, sweaters, skirts and jewel boxes, majorette suits and skates and Toni sets, coats, ties and gloves, and candy, fruit, nuts, cakes and ice cream, and turkeys, flashlights and fountain pens and pencils and Gym Dandy sets and bicycles, bows and arrows and cow-boy suits and guns and holsters and volley balls and basketballs and footballs, baseballs and bats and electric football games, elec-

THANK YOU

To the hosts of friends numbered in the thousands the Barium family sends its sincere appreciation for the wonderful things that came to the Home at Christmastime. If there is any question about a package sent to the Home, please address an inquiry to the office.

Superintendent's Report To The Board Of Regents

Gratefully, we acknowledge the goodness of God and offer unto Him thanksgiving for His continued providence. Each year gives evidence of the Heavenly Father's watch care over Barium Springs, and His goodness during the year just closed strengthens our faith and calls for a full commitment to Him.

STAFF

The work of the Home requires a large number of people to keep the operation going. A former superintendent, Dr. Joseph B. Johnston, said that the success of the Home in his administration was due to the help of the folks around him. That statement is still true. The success of Barium is due to the faithful service of those who are now here. Our newest staff members have been here three months and the longest tenure of service is about thirty years. If long hours and below average pay is indicative of faithful service, then this staff would receive a good report. The Board's attention is called to the fact that the Home is constantly in need of additional personnel to fill vacancies when they exist and to replace persons who retire or leave the staff. Also, it should be borne in mind that people with experience and training adequate for doing the job will have to receive adequate pay for their services.

CAMPUS

The campus has a beauty all its own and it is gratifying

UNDER THE STEEPLE

By Rev. Hugh B. Carter, Jr.

The Pioneers and Seniors are the most active folk under the steeple. At the moment they are engaged in a bit of intellectual gymnastics in their separate corners which promises to come to a fighting finish in a joint meeting some Sunday night in the near future. The game is called BIG TEN and is modeled after one of the favorite TV Quiz shows. Contestants vie with one another in answering questions from the Bible in such categories as "Parables" (Jesus told three parables about things old and new; name two of them); "Old Testament Characters" (Identify Esau); "Who Said" (Who said, "What must I do to be saved?"). The Champion in the Senior High Division is Jackie Taylor who has conquered former champion Vicky Brafford and challenger Dickie McKenzie. Audrey Waters topped Donald Frazier, but was bested by Vicky. In the Pioneer Department, there is a deadlock between challenger Joyce Ann Hughes and defending champ Tyressa Taylor. Jeanette Grier was top until her contest with Tyressa. Other activities of Pioneers include original posters, poems and stories to illustrate Christmas. Those declared winners were Mike Morgan, Lois Allen, Eloise Barefoot, Jeanette Grier, and Rita Harris. Senior Highs celebrated the Christmas Season with an evening of carroling, followed by refreshments at the manse, and on Christmas morning had charge of the early morning worship service. Those taking part were Graham Blake, Judy Bolton, Vicky Brafford, Jim Bunnell, Douglas Byrd, Buddy Cochran, Edna Evans, Dickie McKenzie, and Audrey Waters.

The Choirs of the Church were at their best in a Wednesday evening concert of great Christmas music in which the Girls Chorus gave a stellar rendition from one of the selections of Bach's "Christmas Oratorio." Mrs. Shirley Price was at the piano. The Children's Chorus lifted the hearts of the congregation in their singing of "The Snow Lay On The Ground", "Long Long Ago" and others. The Male Chorus did "The Annunciation" and "The Adoration of the Shepherds" and the combined choirs sang Ringwald's arrangment of "O Holy Night." Choirs were under the direction of Miss Charlotte Calhoun, assisted at the organ by Miss Julia Clendenin.

The Congregation made a Thanksgiving Day offering of $174.60. The Joy Gift offering was $66.00. The congregation approved a budget of $8,300 for the coming year which exceeds the current budget by $2,200. Benevolences to Presbytery were increasd from $1,200 to $2,000.

The request of Little Joe's Church to hear the Reverend Dr. J. M. Sydenstricker, Brazilian Missionary, during the World Mission season was granted by the Board of World Missions, and Dr. Sydenstricker will be our guest on Sunday, February 15.

The congregation will begin the New Year with observance of The Lord's Supper on the first Sunday in January, and on the same day shall welcome into its fellowship by profession of faith some twenty boys and girls who have been preparing themselves for Church membership by attending special classes conducted by the minister over a seven week period. Our latest addition to the church was Mrs. W. L. Roberts who was received by certificate from a sister church in this Presbytery.

The Congregation begins the year 1959 meditating on these words from the First Epistle of John: "Beloved, let us love one another, for love is of God. And every one that loveth is born of God and knoweth God . . . Herein is love, not that we loved God but that he loved us, and sent his son to be the propitiation for our sins. Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another."

Superintendent's Report To The Board of Regents

to note the comments that are made about its appearance. This, however, does not erase the fact that there continues to exist in the buildings and equipment of the campus dire needs for repairs and replacements. Some of the plans for the year just closed have not been carried out, they will have to be renewed for the coming year. The purchase of furniture has been delayed because the report from the Love Gift has not been made. The installing of bathrooms in Lottie Walker has been designed and is ready to be done. The new year will call for major repairs in Howard Cottage, Sprunt Infirmary, the second floor of Lottie Walker, and the special study of Lees Cottage with the possibility of complete remodeling being necessary.

Attention of the Board is called to the condition of the old swimming pool. This subject has often been brought to the attention of the Board and it seems now that something will have to be done. Either the old pool will have to be closed and discontinued, or plans will have to be made for a new one. During the summer months the pool became a place for spreading germs and causing a rise in ear, nose, and throat infections. Upon the advice of the doctor, the pool was closed.

It is the considered judgment of the superintendent that the campus needs a Student Center Building. The boys and girls need a place to get together in wholesome fashion for recreation and fun. This is of an informal type and more also of the "party" type. The gymnasium serves the purpose for skating and basketball, dressing for football, etc., but it is too big and not suitable for the informal evening type of get-together and the "party" type building where something special can be held. It is hoped that the Board will look with favor on the erection of such a building and instruct the superintendent to secure proposed plans and estimates.

FINANCES

The auditor's report is in your hands giving the comments of the auditors together with the detailed reporting of the financial operations of the Home. Also, the treasurer has prepared and distributed general information about the financial picture of the Home. Therefore, the statements of the superintendent would call attention of the Board to general conditions and trends in the Synod in the matter of support. The Home has complied fully with the rules of the Synod of North Carolina in reporting to the Synod's Office the amounts sent directly to the Home. The plan of the Synod to have the contributions sent through the Presbytery's treasurer, through the Synod's treasurer, and then forwarded to the Home prevents the Home's office from being able to identify the source of many of the gifts and therefore has removed the possibility of a communication to the local church or individual giver. Some people, having been accustomed to receiving these communications, have thought that perhaps the Home was remiss in not sending out "Thank-you Notes", but the Home has no way of knowing the sources of the money and cannot, therefore, keep up the interest through correspondence. Once again, let it be said that the Board must interpret to the Stewardship Committee and to the Synod of North Carolina the financial program of the Home and the needs that are to be met here.

CENSUS

More children are being cared for in America and North Carolina than ever before in the history of Child Care. There are also more agencies caring for children than ever in the history of Child Care. This, then, means that the Church is not carrying the full load but that the nation, through its welfare program administered through its State and County departments, are lightening the load on the institutions. Also, the fact of Social Security in the lives of many children has kept them at home where in other days they would have been forced to be cared for away from home. Our present enrollment at Barium Springs is about 175. The applications that are before us would indicate that the enrollment of the Home certainly would not exceed 225 during the present year, and possibly not reach that number. The applications in general far exceed the capacity of the Home. Some of the needs the Home is not capable of meeting and some of the children do not come under the rules of admission as established by the Board. It will be important for the Board and administration of the Home to study carefully the intake policies, interpret them to the Synod of North Carolina, and follow the will of the Synod of North Carolina in any proposed program for Child Caring in the Synod.

SCHOOL

The year just closed saw a change in the graduation procedures at Barium Springs, for in consolidating the high school at Troutman, the boys and girls of the Home graduated with the group in the regular exercises at the Troutman School. The transition from the High School on the campus to that off the campus has been much more tranquil than had been anticipated. The convictions of the administration and the Board thus far have been borne out in that, while there are disadvantages connected with this new relationship, there are many advantages which seem to outweigh the others. The Elementary School had a good year on the campus. Some special work was done with the children in the Public School Music and also in children's choruses and in the Church choirs. Piano lessons were available for all those who wanted to take it. The quality of instruction was good and the school was eligible for accreditation, with the exception of having one teacher holding a high school certificate teaching below the seventh grade. This Fall the school is eligible for accreditation. Much time and thought, exploration and study are being given to the matter of the school. Nearly all agree that the younger children would be better served by being taught on the campus. Thus, it would seem wise always to have some teaching done at the Home. The real question is where the division should be made. The superintendent is unable to make a recommendation to the Board at this time for any additional change, but would seek the advice and counsel of the Board in establishing the most economical and wisest plan for education of the boys and girls.

HEALTH

The average health of the campus is good. The major outbreak during the year was that of Asian Flu. It is anticipated that the campus will have more frequent attacks of diseases prevalent in the community by reason of contacts in the school at Troutman. In years gone by we have been more or less isolated and now in the new school relationship we will be exposed to the communicable diseases more frequently than heretofore. Miss Nancy Hoots at the Infirmary has given good service to the students of the Home who have been confined in the Infirmary and has administered to the health care of all the students. Dr. Tom Griffin and his associate, Dr. William McLain at Troutman serve the Home. The services of Davis Hospital continue to be wonderful for the boys and girls. Dr. William S. Kirk has completed his year of study at Chapel Hill and resumed his regular program on the campus in dentistry, adding to his work his newly acquired knowledge in Orthodontia. Thus, the good work of the Dental Committee continues to be carried on and the unexcelled work of Dr. Smith Kirk in his care of the boys and girls will prevail. A finer spirit cannot be found in the State of North Carolina than Dr. Smith Kirk. Campus injuries have been about normal and football injuries were lighter than usual. All in all, the state of health at Barium Springs can be reported as good.

WATER SUPPLY

The 25,000 gallon tank standing near Rumple Hall is supplied from three deep wells. Two of these wells west of the Highway 21 are red wells and the one east of the Highway is clear water. The water supply presents a major question in the plans for Barium Springs. No fixtures can be kept decent with the red water running over them. No clothes can be laundered in this red water satisfactorily. The lines carrying the water become clogged and this reduces the pressure and makes the flow unsatisfactory in the buildings. Many analyses have been made of the water. The red seems to be a mineral content and cannot be removed. It is distasteful and discolors all fixtures. It seems indispensable that a new source of supply be provided. This could be done through one of several procedures. New wells could be drilled on the East side for the clear water. A stream might be impounded and the water filtered and pumped to the tank. There is some possibility that arrangements might be made with the City of Statesville for extension of their lines to the campus. Further explorations will be made and reports for future action will be made at a subsequent Board meeting.

FARM

This year brought to a close the services of Mr. John F. Stinson as Farm Manager. After three decades of service to the Home and having reached the age of seventy-one, Mr. Stinson retired as Farm Manager. Mr. Stinson was held in high esteem by all who knew him and greatly loved by those who worked with him. A noble servant of God has served this Home well.

A new Farm Manager has been chosen. Mr. Roger Murdoch and his family came to the Home the middle of July. He is the son of Mr. Carl Murdoch of Iredell County, a well known Christian citizen of this community. Mr. Roger Murdoch grew up on the farm, graduated at State College, and served as County Agent in Iredell County and other counties. He is tireless in his effort and is high in his zeal and ambition for the Home. It is reasonable to anticipate that under his leadership the farm, dairy, orchards, and gardens will continue to improve and be an asset to the economy of the Home and the training of the children. People who know Barium Springs best and who know Roger Murdoch well are loud in their approval of securing his leadership for the farm and for working with boys and girls.

CHURCH

Reverend and Mrs. Hugh B. Carter, Jr. and their two children, Myra and Tim, came to live in the Manse in midsummer. That was the beginning of something good for Barium Springs. The minister's leadership in the Church and his life and that of his family on the campus and in the community continue to be good for this place. It seems that the hand of God moved particularly and unmistakably in the placing of this family in this community. The Home and community are responding to the plans and suggestions of Mr. and Mrs. Carter and it is a cause for gratitude to God to know that this family is here for service in the work of Little Joe's Presbyterian Church. It is hoped that the Committee on Education and Religion will hold meetings on the campus and seek frequently the counsel of both superintendent and minister for laying out and carrying on an adequate program of Christian Nurture for the children of the Home.

tric boats and small airplanes, et cetera, et cetera, et cetera. .

As the boys and girls moved back into the routine of school there was still the glow of the holidays spreading over into the beginning of school again and making even the thoughts of study and recitations and exams a little less formidable because of the beautiful and pleasant experience of the holiday season.
